

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Mineral construction materials such as mortars and tile adhesives are rendered more resistant to microbial growth by adding biocide in the form of a biocide-containing redispersible polymer powder rather than adding biocide separately.